
Peirone Produce Statement:

There have been reports of salmonella linked to red onions grown by Thomson International out of Bakersfield California. We have not purchased onions from Thomson, all of our red onions were grown in Washington state. Thomson says they will issue a recall, but it does not apply to the red onions we have shipped. Any questions please feel to call.

Update 2:

We have been in contact with our major onions vendors, and have learned that our companies are still not involved in this Recall.

Update 1:

Regarding the onions that have been recalled is from Thomson International: Thomson International is not our direct vendor. We are currently working with our vendors to make sure that no onions from Thomson International were shipped to our companies.
